

Technology, Food and Agricultural Career Day
Thursday, March 22, 2007
For Ninth and Tenth Grade Students

Engage in this fast-paced learning adventure that will explore careers that connect technology, food and agriculture in the counties of Wayne, Ontario, Seneca and Yates. Get hands-on experience and information at the Cornell Food & Agriculture Technology Park in Geneva, a state-of-the-art dairy farm and much more!! Lunch and prizes are included. Free of charge to selected school districts, their students and chaperones.

You will be connected with people in all types of careers who will tell you about their backgrounds, the earning potential in their fields and what they do at work each day. This is a great way to learn about all the new and exciting kinds of careers there are in these fields in New York State, that you would never have thought of. Some of these careers include being a food marketer, remote sensing specialist, a graphic designer, turf scientist, science and agriculture teacher, a nutritionist, and a food scientist!

Interested in signing up? See your School Guidance Counselor for an application!
Deadline for submitting your application is January, 31, 2007!

Questions? Call Kitty Noble, Event Coordinator at (315) 781.0070.